Ongoing Exhibits at The National Archives

Photographs from the National Archives: New York People and Places

New York's People and Places brings together images of New York that are just a small selecting of The National Archives network of more than 14 million photographs. Chronicled here are the changing views of the city's people and landscapes, from the late nineteenth to mid-twentieth centuries. The scenes represented here are a candid and intimate portrait of our modern city in the making.

U.S. Vs Alger Hiss – Documentary evidence of the United States vs. Alger Hiss and the case of Espionage

Select documents on display which led to Hiss's indictment on charges of perjury.

The above two ongoing exhibits can be seen at the National Archives - Northeast Region - New York

MWF 8:00 AM - 4:30 PM, T & T 8:00 AM - 8:00 PM, and the first Saturday of the Month 8:30AM - 4:00PM.
